WHITE HEATHER FOR TOMMY DOUGLAS

Tommy Douglas of Saskatchewan, National leader of the New Democratic Party is presented with a White Heather by Scotty Angus on arrival at Kelowna airport this morning. Mr. Douglas will be guest speaker tonight at the annual Burns' Banquet sponsored by the AOTS and being held in the United Church Hall. Banquet starts at 6:30 and all tickets have been sold. Mr. Angus said today. Mr. Douglas will also speak tomorrow at Vernon.

JFK Calls Tariff Plan Step To Trading Unity

WASHINGTON (CP) — President Kennedy today unveiled his demands on Congress for vast tariff-bargaining power, describing them as stepping stones to "an open trade partnership" between North America and western Europe to frustrate Communist dreams of shattering the West through trade wars.

"It is time now to write a new chapter in the evolution of the Atlantic community," Kennedy said in a 5,000-word trade message requesting power to eliminate U.S. tariffs on a broad range of industrial goods and to reduce other rates by half during a period of five years or more.

Reductions would be reciprocal. Negotiations would be directed mainly at the Common Market but bargains made would be extended to all the free world. However, where big traders, such as Canada, obtained major benefits, the U.S. would expect "compensating concessions" in return, Kennedy said.

"Nuisance" tariffs — five per cent or less — would be withdrawn. This would be of particular help to Canadian exporters of aluminum, copper and nickel.

But officials said the U.S. would reserve the right to refuse to negotiate on such highly-sensitive products as oil, lead, zinc and certain agricultural products strongly protected by import quotas and other curbs. They said this reservation would be used sparingly.

Canada gets into the U.S. oil market without quotas. Other suppliers are restricted.

Financial aid would be given to U.S. workers and industries hit by the changes. He listed payments for workers who lose jobs and tax benefits for industries.

Rusk Blisters Castro In Appeal To Americas

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay — The United States in a scathing indictment of Castro communism appealed to the other American states today for a four-pronged counter-attack to save the hemisphere from the ravages of global Red assault.

State Secretary Dean Rusk told the inter-American foreign ministers' conference considering the threat of Cuba's communism that the Americas need a shield to protect democratic processes if the Alliance for Progress program is to succeed in its attack on the hemisphere's economic ills.

Rusk labelled Castro and the Cuban Communists "smirking sycophants" of Moscow and declared:

"What we cannot accept and will never accept is the use of Cuba as a means through which extra-continental powers seek to break up the inter-American system, to overthrow governments of other countries and to destroy the autonomous democratic revolution of the hemisphere."

The Castro regime has extended the global battle to Latin America. It has supplied communism with a bridgehead in the Americas, and it has thereby brought the entire hemisphere into the front line of the struggle between communism and democracy. It has turned itself into an arsenal for arms and ammunition from the Communist world."

Free Trading Area Plan Defeated At Convention

VERNON (Staff) — The ever-contentious resolution on free trading areas in British Columbia Wednesday went down to a dismal defeat at the 73rd annual convention of the BCFGA here.

Graham Plan To Beat Ban

MARACAIBO, Venezuela (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham says he will go through with his plans to preach in Barranquilla, Colombia, this weekend although the mayor there has denied him use of the municipal stadium. The meetings Saturday and Sunday will be held at the Presbyterian mission.

Colombia is a predominantly Roman Catholic country.

The mayor of Barranquilla withdrew permission for Graham to speak in the stadium after the local Roman Catholic hierarchy protested that Protestant preaching outside private church property was illegal in Colombia.

Only four delegates, all from Kere-meos-Cawston, the local who introduced the resolution, voted for it. In an endeavor to gain support for free trading areas, H. R. McDonald said at the outset he realized it was contentious.

Nevertheless, he pushed for the resolution because he said he felt unfair competition was experienced in this province with United States fruit products. B.C. fruit products were not doing the selling job they should; and it would allow growers to find their own markets in a dwindling and uncertain fruit industry.

R. J. Bassett, also of Kere-meos-Cawston echoed Mr. McDonald's firm stand, yet when delegates were asked to vote on the resolution it was hopelessly defeated.

In all, seven resolutions were defeated at yesterday's session of the three-day convention.

Size groups in peaches, pooling of soft fruits, both presented from Oliver, and wider differential in returns between C grade and culls, from Winfield Okanagan Centre were all defeated on the convention floor.

Throne Speech Sees Big Education Boost

Over-All BC Hydro Body Among Plans Outlined

VICTORIA (CP) Increased financial assistance to all levels of education and establishment of an over-all provincial hydro power authority were forecast today in the speech from the throne, read at the opening of the British Columbia legislature's 1962 session.

Increased educational facilities, including a dentistry faculty at the University of B.C., and more changes in education laws in line with the Chant royal commission recommendations also were outlined.

The speech, prepared by the government and read by Lieutenant-Governor George Fearnley at the traditionally ceremonial opening of the House, also said a new water resources department will be established and a royal commission will be appointed to inquire into workmen's compensation.

PROVINCIAL AID Revision of the magistrates' courts of B.C. and amendments to the Municipal Act aimed at improving civic administration also were forecast, along with promise of provincial aid to construction of housing and recreational facilities for the aged.

There was no mention, however, of any legislation to further curb trading and gift-stamp promotions by retailers, something which had been expected following entry by three grocery chains in B.C. recently into such promotions.

Establishment of the hydro authority had been expected in the wake of the government's take-over last August of the giant B.C. Electric Company.

This move had placed most of B.C. outside the Okanagan and Kootenay areas within the area serviced by crown-owned corporations.

PROVINCIAL GRID The speech said the government will introduce legislation to establish a B.C. Hydro Power Authority to be responsible for "generation and distribution of all public power within the province, for construction of a provincial transmission grid, and for the consignment of power to a national grid when required."

It would also facilitate a "very substantial reduction" in electricity rates to consumers in all areas served by the crown-owned B.C. Power Commission and the B.C. Electric. These reductions are to come in April.

Legislation giving details of the new authority will be made known following presentation of the budget, expected Feb. 9, Premier Bennett said.

REAFFIRMED STAND The speech also touched on Columbia and Peace River hydroelectric development, reaffirming Premier Bennett's stand that both will be developed simultaneously and that B.C. expects to sell its share of Columbia River downstream benefits in the United States.

With Ottawa's ratification of the international Columbia River treaty and approval of the downstream benefits sale, B.C. would be ready this year to award contracts for construction of the major Columbia works.

The speech dealt at length with education.

It said there will be "substantial increases" in grants to the University of B.C., to Victoria College and to all school districts.

Technical and vocational training facilities will be expanded in co-operation with the federal government and detailed planning for an institute of technology is proceeding, the speech said.

New facilities for vocational education will be provided at Vancouver, Prince George, Nanaimo, Nelson and Kelowna.

The first stages of construction of a college of education at UBC will be completed this year. The government has authorized research hospital at UBC, which is to be one of the most advanced diagnostic and teaching centres in North America.

Money also is to be provided for establishment of a dentistry faculty at UBC.

The speech said the government, in recognition of the fundamental importance of water resources in the attainment of economic goals, will elevate the present water rights branch to the department of water resources through legislation creating a department of lands, forests and water resources.

The appointment of the royal commission on workmen's compensation arises from representations by individual workmen and organizations who have complained of inequities in present laws and administration.

The speech gave no details of the measures "designed to better ensure payment of wages to employees," but it was believed that they will put more teeth into legislation requiring payment of wages on the basis of at least twice monthly.

Referring to facilities for the aged, the speech said: "You will be asked to consider an expansion of many government's worthwhile participation in the provision of low-rental housing for elderly citizens. You will be asked, too, to consider the provision of assistance towards the construction of recreational centres for senior citizens."

"The government also announced in the speech that it will sponsor a third international trade fair in the spring of 1964, following success in two previous fairs, the last held in Vancouver last May.

In agriculture, the speech said the rural youth development program begun last year has been well received and that the Farmers' Land-Clearing Assistance Act had benefited about 30 per cent of all farmers and ranchers in B.C. Expenditures to continue this work were planned.

61-6 VOTE AT NOON

Garrish Sweeps Board To Head BCFGA Again

GARRISH ... The Winner

VERNON (Staff) — Arthur Garrish today received an overwhelming vote of confidence as delegates to the 73rd annual BCFGA convention re-elected him president of the association. It is his 12th term in the chair.

He soundly defeated the only other candidate to oppose him, Alfred T. Beich, of Oliver, by a ballot of 61 to 6.

Mr. Garrish said upon his re-election that he was naturally pleased with the substantial majority.

"Not so much for myself, but for the principles I stand for, this is a decisive show of confidence. I am very gratified with the results."

Mr. Beich was the first to congratulate Mr. Garrish and he also congratulated the Kere-meos-Cawston local for their support in nominating him.

"They have supported me, and often stood up to ridicule, yet they did stand by me. I have nothing else to say except 'tally ho' to you all."

NATO 'Backs Colonialism In Angola'

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — India said today NATO's support is enabling Portugal to maintain colonial control over Angola and other African territories.

Indian Ambassador C. S. Jha told the 16th United Nations General Assembly colonialism in its "most virulent" form is being practised by Portugal in Angola and "it has got to go."

Jha said that of the 15 NATO allies, only Norway has announced it will refuse arms to Portugal. Jha maintained that all the evidence indicates Portugal used NATO arms to subvert uprisings in its big West African territories.

UNPOPULAR ITEMS

Following the election of president, B.C. Fruit Board directors were re-elected by acclamation. They are J. G. Campbell, chairman, Salmon Arm; A. D. DesBrisay, Penticton and R. G. Fenson, Canyon. Secretary-treasurer is P. C. McCullum.

Mr. Campbell said on re-election that the sometimes unpopular regulations laid down by the board, were always done with the growers' interests in thought. He thanked the delegates for their continued support.

Prior to the elections delegates passed a resolution on the controversial closing of apple spot picking introduced by Okanagan Mission-Kelowna locals.

They will ask the selling agency to be required to make every effort to see the spot picking pool is operated in an equitable manner.

It was an amendment to the original resolution that would have asked packing houses not be notified of the closing of the spot pick apple pool until actual time of closing of the pool.

Canada Now 'A Laughing Stock'—MP

Harold Winch CCF-Vancouver East said Wednesday the government has brought Canada into international disrepute and made it a laughing stock among other nations.

He said in the Commons throne speech debate that on the one hand the government advocates no extension of the nuclear club at the United Nations while at the same time arming Canadian forces with weapons effective only with nuclear warheads.

"How do you put the two together? ... It's political hypocrisy."

Agriculture Minister Hamilton is suffering in Ottawa from the effects of a "severe chilling resulting in a bad cold and inflammation, settling mostly in the facial area," his office said Wednesday.

Liberal leader Ray Perrault said in Vancouver he will make specific job-making proposals during the throne speech debate in the legislature which opens today.

FORT ST. JOHN, B.C. (CP) — A wild oil well fire which has blazed almost a week in the northern bushland was snuffed out today by Red Adair, recognized as the world's foremost oil well fireman.

He donned an asbestos suit, walked into the holocaust, and turned off a valve, thus shutting off the leaking oil and gas. The fire then just died away.

Apple Crop Up By 9 Per Cent

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's 1961 apple crop rose by nine per cent over the previous year, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

Larger crops in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Ontario offset smaller output in Quebec and British Columbia as total production was estimated at 16,206,000 bushels compared with the 1960 total of 14,914,000.

The pear crop, estimated at 1,406,000 bushels, is two per cent down from the 1960 yield of 1,526,000 bushels.

The Canadian peach crop jumped by 30 per cent to 3,982,000 bushels in 1961 compared with the preceding year's 3,062,000-bushel figure.

Convention Sidelights

By r p m The first session of the BCFGA convention in Vernon could be felt when Mr. Alfred Beich, a candidate for the presidency of the BCFGA, went to the mike to comment on a report of the B.C. Fruit Board.

Mr. Beich was unknown to many of the growers present and his first appearance caused something of a minor sensation.

Shortly after there was a debate on whether or not the two presidential candidates should be allowed to express their views to the delegates. Although there were some who objected to departing from the usual prohibition of election speeches, a resolution to permit each candidate to speak for 15 minutes was passed by a wide margin.

Time was provided for the two speeches about 11 a.m. Wednesday. Mr. Beich spoke first and Mr. Garrish followed. The applause indicated the reaction to the two addresses. Mr. Beich received a rather good applause but it was obviously simply polite. It lacked enthusiasm. On the other hand, the applause given Mr. Garrish was prolonged and enthusiastic. If this is a criterion — and it should be — of the election results today, it indicated "Garrish."

The two men speak very differently. Mr. Beich speaks quickly, leaves sentences uncompleted and points unfinished. He speaks well, but he speaks in generalities. He uses words to stir or incite emotions rather than reason. On the other hand, Mr. Garrish speaks slowly and deliberately. He is positive and he is clear, leaving no doubt as to his stand and the point he is making. While Mr. Beich spoke from "theory," Mr. Garrish spoke of "facts."

To an onlooker, it appeared as though Mr. Beich was expressing an idea, a hope. On the other hand Mr. Garrish expressed a "declaration of faith." He said simply and deliberately that he believed controlled marketing was necessary for the benefit of the entire grower body and he would work to maintain it.

While he did not say so in so many words, his inference was clear. "If you believe the present controlled market scheme is beneficial to the growers body as a whole, vote for me; if you do not believe in controlled marketing do not vote for me because I do believe in it."

NEW GREEK PRIMATE QUILTS AFTER CHARGES ALLEGED

ATHENS (AP) — Greece's recently-elected Orthodox primate, Archbishop Liakovos, resigned today under Greek government pressure.

In a statement read by a Holy Synod spokesman the archbishop, elected Jan. 13 to Greece's highest Orthodox Church post, said:

"I resigned to avert state interference in church affairs."

His resignation came after a bitter controversy following charges levied against the 69-year-old archbishop by a Greek Orthodox archmandrite, a general and an admiral. The nature of the charges was not disclosed, apparently because of their delicate nature.

Aerial Maps Of S. Italy Found In Downed MiG

ACQUAVIVA, Italy (AP) — Aerial maps of southern Italy were found aboard the Bulgarian MiG-17 jet that crashed landed near a new NATO missile base Saturday, a high Italian Air Force source reported today.

The source described the maps as "rather inaccurate" and said:

"It is pretty obvious that the pilot was ordered to fly here to check the exact positions of several NATO missile bases scattered in this region."

The pilot, Lieut. Miluse Sol-kov, 22, crashed near this southern town six miles from the new missile base at Gioia del Colle. The Italian defence ministry said Monday there were indications that Solosov was on an aerial spying mission, but the investigation since has been shrouded in secrecy.

The pilot is recovering at a local hospital.

last November. Aguceri's brother Vito and another Toronto man, Rocco Scapellitti, were found guilty of drug smuggling charges along with nine others in New York Dec. 27. They are due to be sentenced Feb. 1.

The Toronto men were said by police to have arranged shipments of narcotics from Italy into the United States.

Underworld Tip Sequel Three Arrests In Spain

TORONTO (CP) — An underworld tip received by the RCMP in Toronto led to the arrest in Spain of alleged leaders of an international drug smuggling ring, RCMP Superintendent F. B. Woods-Johnson said today.

The U.S. Federal Bureau of Narcotics Tuesday announced the arrest of Frank Caruso, 50, Vincent Mauro, 45, and Salvatore Maneri, 49, who jumped bail in the United States last September while awaiting trial on drug smuggling charges.

Caruso and Mauro, described by police as kingpins in the $150,000,000 smuggling racket before it was smashed last May, were arrested in Barcelona.

The three will be questioned in connection with the murder of Toronto accused Albert Aguceri, whose burned body was found outside Rochester, N.Y.

Gas Company Lowers Rates

Imperial Oil today reduced the wholesale price of its gasoline and heating and diesel oils in Kelowna by nine-tenths of a cent per gallon.

The company said that the reduction was made to improve Imperial's competitive position in this area served by a competing Interior refinery and in recognition of the lower laid-down cost of crude oil from B.C. fields now available at Kamloops.

In announcing the reductions Imperial said that its wholesale gasoline price in Kelowna is now 1.7 cents lower than five years ago and that over the same period its prices for heating and diesel oils in Kelowna have now declined by 1.4 cents a gallon.

JANUARY 30, A BIG DAY

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Priest, of 848 Leon Ave., really have something to blow their horns about and even Ripley of the famous "Ripley's Believe It Or Not" was interested. On Jan. 30, 1934 the couple was blessed with a bright-eyed baby boy. On Jan. 30, 1936, another baby was born, this time a girl and on Jan. 30, 1939 another girl was born. Now, on Jan. 30, 1962—next week, Mr. Priest will celebrate 28 years in the life insurance business. By the way, it's Mrs. Priest's birthday two days later. The family, all away now, are Richard 28, Beverly 26 and Juanita 23. Ripley's believe it or not used the story four times. The result — one four-layer cake would suffice the Priest family on Jan. 30.

Impaired Driving Brings $150 Fine to City Man

Kelowna man who said he didn't even remember getting in his car at a local club was fined $150 and costs for impaired driving Wednesday night.

John Sewell Whittingham pleaded guilty to the charge in Kelowna police court this morning.

The charge arose from an accident near the hospital grounds when Mr. Whittingham's car rammed a parked car and drove it a dozen feet, according to court officer Cons. Sam Hobbs.

According to testimony, constables found Mr. Whittingham slumped behind the wheel of his car. There was a strong smell of alcohol on his breath and on two occasions while he was being questioned, he had to be supported, said police.

Damage to the parked car was estimated at $500. The accused's car was damaged to the extent of about $100. Both cars were locked together after the impact.

His driver's licence, which police said he didn't produce at the time of his arrest, was suspended for three months.

WORTHLESS CHEQUES Released on his own recognizance of $500 was Savel Givokoff charged on two counts of purchasing goods by means of worthless cheques for $8 and $3 respectively at two Kelowna service stations.

Mr. Givokoff pleaded not guilty to the charges. Appearing for him is Patrick O'Neill. Remand date was set at Feb. 1.

ACCIDENTS There were two accidents reported by police yesterday. No details of damage are available following an accident at the Carni Rd. near Rutland involving a pick-up truck and a logging truck.

No one was injured in a minor two-car collision at Ellis St. and Cawston Ave. Wednesday. Driver of one car was identified as H. B. Simpson and of the second, D. J. Ablett, both of Kelowna.

ROAD REPORT Highways Said "Pretty Fair"

There is fresh snow in some areas but on the whole, roads are in pretty fair winter condition around the Valley and north of the valley.

Salmon Arm: Roads plowed and sanded. Some slippery sections.

Vernon: Roads plowed and sanded. Some slippery sections.

Allison Pass: Six inches fresh snow. Plowed and sanded.

Fraser-Merritt: Light snow, sanded.

Penticton: Main roads are bare.

Revelstoke: Plowing and sanding all main roads. Snowing.

Kamloops: Main road is bare. Ice sections, sanding.

City Resident J. C. Wilson Dies At 82

James Curnel Wilson of Kelowna died in Vernon Monday at the age of 82.

Day's Funeral Service are in charge of the arrangements and funeral service will be held at Harron Brothers' funeral home in Vancouver. Interment will be in the family plot at Forest Lawn cemetery.

Mr. Wilson is survived by two sons, Clayton and Melvin of Vancouver, eight brothers and sisters, four of whom live in Kelowna and include Mrs. Bert Knox, Mrs. Frank Bedford, Mrs. A. Duffell and Sam Wilson. He was predeceased by his wife, Olive, one son, Edwin, three brothers and three sisters.

Born in Ontario, Mr. Wilson spent his early years in the east where he learned the carpenter trade. In 1900, he moved west to Vancouver where in 1904 he married Olive Carsen.

Until his retirement to Kelowna 10 years ago, Mr. Wilson was a building contractor in the greater Vancouver area.

Funeral Held For Winfield Orchardist

A man who took an active part in the planting of the first orchards in the Winfield area has died.

Funeral was held today at Day's Chapel of Remembrance for Charles Litchfield Gunn who died in hospital Tuesday. He was 82.

Born in Ontario, Mr. Gunn spent his early years in that province before moving with his family to Manitoba. In 1911 he married Mrs. Gunn in Swift Current, Sask., and shortly afterwards moved to the Okanagan.

Mr. Gunn spent most of his life in the fruit industry, retiring three years ago.

He is survived by his wife Eva, three sons, Jack, Cliff and Ron; three daughters, Mrs. Allan (Edith) Gibbons of Simsbury, Mrs. W. (Joyce) Goffie of Kelowna and Mrs. W. (Jean) Veness of Vernon; 20 grandchildren, four great-grandchildren, two brothers and two sisters.

Rev. R. Shantz conducted the funeral service and interment followed in Lakeview Memorial Park.

Bus Service To Glenmore

The possibility of bus service to the new Glenmore area will be discussed at a meeting to be held soon with the city and Okanagan Mission Stages Ltd.

The Stages' bus franchise to operate the service within the city limits, granted in 1952, expires April 28 and will be up for renewal subject to approval.

Kelowna Chamber of Commerce was asked to send a representative to the meeting to discuss stops, fares and other mechanics of the operation.

A. T. Grinder Dies At 45

A former Kelowna General Hospital orderly died recently in Chilliwack of a heart attack.

He was Arthur Theodore Grinder, aged 45.

Mr. Grinder moved to Kelowna from Saskatchewan in 1949. He lived here until five years ago when he moved to Chilliwack, where he was an orderly at the hospital there.

and president of the Hospital Employees Union No. 180.

He was found dead in a supermarket parking lot.

He is survived by his wife, Evelyn, one daughter, Judy, two sons, Jim at UBC and Danny and relatives from Swift Current and other communities in Saskatchewan.

ACCEPTS OFFER Brian Roche, popular sales representative of Okanagan Stationers, has been granted a leave of absence by the Kelowna Company in order that he may take advantage of the opportunity to further his hockey career. Brian, coach of the Kelowna Junior Buckaroos hockey club, has accepted an offer from the Omineca Knights hockey team.

GRADE "A" AIN'T NECESSARILY SO

Meat Inspection Under Fire Here

All meat sold over the counter at the five slaughterhouses in Kelowna stores has to be inspected first, according to city health authorities today.

Under a law passed in the city in 1951, locally killed beef, lambs, hogs and veal must first be marked "City of Kelowna Approved" before being offered to Mrs. Housewife.

Since the figure raised on the coast about tainted meat and the apparent lack of inspection, the Okanagan Health Unit's meat inspector Fred Alcock has received what he calls a number of inquiries as to the situation here.

CITY STAMP The Health Unit's job is to inspect the meat when it reaches local retail stores, to see if the city stamp is on it and if not to alert it and prosecute the merchant. Mr. Alcock said there hasn't been any prosecution here.

The city's inspector, Dr. A. S. Clarke, veterinarian, wields the stamp at each of the five slaughterhouses in the immediate vicinity of the city. None are within city limits.

He said yesterday he inspects on the average approximately 55 head of beef a month — 15 lambs, 60 hogs and 15-20 veal at the five slaughterhouses. Back to the system is the fact he isn't required to inspect meat that's sold in the city's "suburban" areas such as Rutland or Westbank.

"You can't tell what's in the sausage," was Health Unit director Dr. David Clarke's comment on the undesirable situation in the outlying areas.

He said the Health Board would very much like to see compulsory meat inspection for all the meat sold in the Okanagan Valley but feels the matter might rest in provincial hands.

In 1951, the Meat Act was brought about through the efforts of the Local Council of Women who campaigned for city inspection.

According to one Council of Women member, it was a real fight to convince City Council but the battle was won.

UN-BULLY BEEF One of the inherent dangers in the uninspected operation at the slaughterhouses is where the un-bully beef goes.

Under normal inspection circumstances at both federal and provincial level, condemned carcasses are put into a tank and melted down for the by-products including fat and soap.

Locally, Mr. Alcock said, a good percentage of the condemned meat is used for mince food. There is the odd animal buried.

But he has more than a suspicion the beef condemned for emaciation as an example may subsequently be ground up into hamburger.

"CUSTOM KILL" There is what is called the "country or custom kill" where a farmer or rancher may bring his head of beef to the slaughterhouse to be killed; providing it is for his own consumption, it doesn't necessarily have to be inspected.

Cost of the slaughtering operation levelled against the farmer is $1 a head for beef, 50 cents for veal and 25 cents for hogs.

The problematic form of inspection is not limited to meat.

Local poultry at present is not inspected officially.

Mr. Alcock said the time is rapidly approaching when the poultry industry could stand inspection.

In most cases, he said the retail prices on non-inspected fowl are on a par with those shipped in after having been carefully inspected and approved.

"When people see a Grade A tag on a chicken, they think it means the fowl has been federally approved. This is not the case at all. The tags are put on at the chicken farmer's end of the operation. Some attempt to have their fowl up to excellent grade. Others have continually abused the grading system," said Mr. Alcock.

POULTRY INSPECTION Both Local Council of Women and the local branch of the Canadian Association of Consumers have been approached on the matter of poultry inspection. The matter will be discussed at the Feb. 9 meeting of the Council of Women in all probability.

"The voice of the consumer bears the greatest weight," said Mr. Alcock, asked by what methods such forms of meat and poultry inspection could be legislated and by whom.

BUILD PLANT He suggested inspection would have to come through provincial legislation at the request of the consumer. He said such legislation in the matter of poultry might also encourage building of killing plants here.

"The public are being misled. They are basing their buying on a false sense of security," he added.

GAME TAINTED There is one more area where the inspection system falls down and some possible future study may be given to it.

This is in the hunting and eventual consumption of wild game.

Granted a hunter, because of the sport and his taste for moose meat, takes his own risks when it comes to the eating of his kill but in many cases the animal is badly diseased to begin with, or it wouldn't have been so easy to shoot.

Under law of course, game meat is not sold commercially but health authorities are concerned about local consumption.

Some forms of game inspection could possibly be organized.

This might however, discourage the hunters who go over their limit in the first place.

Job Freeze Could Ruin the Railways

Later this month Canada's two major railways will sit down with their non-operating employees to discuss a new working agreement, but it is unlikely that any common ground will be found after union demands which have been termed "fantastic." It seems now that threat of railway strikes will be a blot on the Canadian labor scene on almost a permanent basis.

Wages are involved again, of course, but the real shocker is a request for a "job freeze" which would make it impossible for railways to trim or streamline staffs as new developments and the economy might indicate. The pattern being held up as an example is one devised in the United States, which makes death or retirement the standard reason for abolition of a job.

Past experience, such as one year ago when the government made it possible for the unions to obtain almost everything they wanted, indicate that more concessions will be given. It makes one wonder how long the government will give in to union pressures.

There is a limit to justice in demands by union workers, and in this instance we suspect that this limit has been exceeded. Nothing short of bankruptcy, which would put all employees on the street, will make it possible for railways to devise a working scheme that will enable the rail carriers to operate at a reasonable level of profit.

Unfortunately, one of our railways cannot go bankrupt unless the entire nation collapses financially. Owned by the government, the Canadian National has for years had its loss absorbed by the federal exchequer. Its bonds are guaranteed, and unless pressures are brought to bear, the management of this government-owned line has no real worries. The same cannot be said for the privately-owned CPR where a reasonable level of operations is essential if the jobs of the workers are to be continued. Not only does the CPR have to make some provision for its shareholders, there also is the important question of putting some of the profits aside for expansion and improvements.

Generally speaking, railways are not the essential carrier they once were. Shippers have several alternatives, and the persistent dwindling in rail passenger and freight traffic indicates that a lot of business is being diverted to these alternate carriers. It is not likely that much of this will be recovered.

Thus, if work agreements are such that the railways cannot trim their job classifications to meet available traffic, both carriers are in for a difficult time. And this has double significance if the same workers whose jobs are frozen are to receive increased rates for their labor. This is certainly not a time when railway operating costs should be forced upward.

PEACE RIVER TUNNELS STARTED

Explosives will begin biting into west bank of Peace river later this year as workers start three tunnels which will be the new route of the river starting in the Fall of 1963. A small dam will be built across the river near the upper end of tunnels to direct water into the intake channel (shown in white) and then through the tunnels. Diversion will permit 615 foot-high postage dam to begin building in dry river bed.

Humble Spud Not to Blame For Those Spreading Waists

TORONTO (CP)—The potato has been painted as one of the villains in the diet for calorie-conscious eaters, but it just isn't so, according to experts of the nutrition section of the national health and welfare department.

A medium-sized potato has about 100 calories, compared with 300 in a piece of pie and 200 in a doughnut.

Furthermore, the potato contains vitamin C, plus vitamin B and an appreciable amount of minerals, especially iron. Other foods such as fudge, sugar and cooked white rice "contain no worthwhile amounts of vitamins and minerals so the calories they provide may be termed empty calories."

Still not convinced? Still turning down potatoes and happily munching on apples and oranges? The Ontario agriculture department notes that a medium-sized potato is no more fattening than a large apple or a large orange.

"It's not the potato that is fattening, it's what you put on it."

SIZE COUNTS

Potatoes are not graded according to cooking quality. Size, shape, maturity and relative freedom from dirt, blemishes, disease or injury all count.

Canada Fancy: Not widely sold, is 2 1/4 to 3 1/2 inches in diameter.

Canada No. 1: 2 1/4 to 4 inches in diameter for round varieties; 2 to 4 inches in diameter for long shaped varieties.

Canada No. 1 Large: 3 1/4 inches minimum diameter.

Canada No. 2: 1 3/4 inches minimum diameter with not less than 75 per cent by weight of potatoes in the lot 2 inches or larger in diameter.

For new potatoes, until August each year, 1 1/2 inches in diameter is the only size requirement.

Storing potatoes in a cool place, about 40 degrees, will prevent sprouting and shriveling. However, if kept in this cool temperature, they should stand at room temperature for at least 48 hours before cooking. A lower temperature tends to develop a sweet flavor.

The storage area should be dark because light causes them to turn green and acquire a bitter taste. Properly stored, potatoes will keep for months.

One enterprising hostess recently invited guests to bring and prepare their own potato pancakes. The women peeled and prepared the potatoes and the men guests cooked them.

This recipe for potato pancakes is from the Ontario agriculture department: 2 cups grated raw potatoes; 1/4 cup milk; 1 egg, beaten; 2 tsp. flour; 1 tsp. salt; few grains pepper.

Add potatoes to milk and allow to stand five minutes. Drain off milk. Blend egg, flour and seasonings and add to potatoes. Drop by tablespoons into hot greased frying pan. Brown on both sides.

Serve with apple sauce or syrup, for four people.

These may be served with potatoes and vegetables. If one tablespoon of onion is added,

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Flushing Out Needs Liquid

By DR. J. G. MOLNER

Dear Dr. Molner: Should a person occasionally get constipated refrain from eating cheese (cream or cottage excepted) and not drink milk?

What should one not eat? What is good to help a natural daily movement? Do you approve of milk of magnesia once in a while?—A.S.

The widely repeated theory that cheese causes constipation is just as wrong as the equally popular rumor that it will cure diarrhea. The latter, I know, is a doubly-loved fable in the army. It is my belief that those who manage to beg a hunk of cheese from the mess sergeant recover no more quickly—and no more slowly—than those who don't.

Constipation is not a matter of refraining from eating any particular foods. There is NO food that causes constipation.

Rather, it is caused by what one does NOT eat. Not eating regularly or not eating enough—as so often is the case with older and inactive people—is an invitation to constipation. Not eating foods with sufficient bulk is another. Bulk is cellulose or other material which is not absorbed by the digestive tract and hence simply moves happily on through. Whole fruits and vegetables are quite rich in bulk and are the best source of it. Such things as bran are bulk also, but may be irritating if used in excess.

Most people with constipation are poor water drinkers. I've had plenty of letters, not to mention direct comments, from people who, after fooling themselves with all sorts of odd theories, finally accepted my simple advice and found relief within a week or two after they began drinking enough water. Whether they got it in soup, coffee, milk, or other sources (including fruit, in juice form or, preferably, whole) doesn't make any great difference. Liquid and bulk, or bulk and liquid, are the best of all possible answers to constipation. In addition, regularity of habit is of no small importance.

As to milk of magnesia, if (as is understandable) one occasionally gets into a bit of trouble, it's very helpful. But remember that I said "occasionally."

If it becomes a regular necessity, then something else is wrong. I could go on explaining this further, but I've already done it in a booklet which will be worth reading for anyone having this trouble. (Dr. Molner's booklet, "The Way To Stop Constipation," will be sent to any reader in return for a long, unstamped self-addressed envelope and 25 in coin to cover printing and handling costs. Address your requests to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper.)

Dear Doctor: If a baby's running nose isn't caused by teething, what would you suggest?—Mrs. P. M.

Teething is blamed for a lot of things because it's such a handy excuse. True, it can make a child drooly and fretful. But a runny nose is more likely due to a cold or an allergy.

Dear Dr. Molner: During my early teens something strange happened to my voice. Until then I had been a coloratura soprano with a wide voice range. Then, after a series of sore throats, my voice changed, and now it will break on certain notes.—J.K.

A "series of sore throats" could have caused some scarring of the vocal cords. Further it's well to remember that some young women develop somewhat deeper voices after adolescence, the same as boys do, except not so much.

Have a specialist check the throat to see whether the vocal cords have been scarred, or if there are polyps or nodules that might have had an effect.

REPORT FROM THE U.K.

One Way to Stop 'Weirdies' Talk

By M. McINTYRE HOOD
Special London (Eng.)
Correspondent
To The Daily Courier

LONDON — What has now become the traditional Easter Monday nuclear disarmament at Trafalgar Square will be missing from that historic site when that date rolls around this year.

A 29-year-old clerk who lives at Cheam, near Richmond, has thwarted the plans of the Committee for Nuclear Disarmament to fill the square with tens of thousands of demonstrators on that day. He has done it by booking the square for a rally of another organization, which he himself has just started, known as the "Keep Britain Great" group.

He was successful in doing this because the regulations of the ministry of works concerning the use of Trafalgar Square for meetings is "first come, first served." His bid was put in ahead of that of the Committee for Nuclear Disarmament.

BEGAN IN A PUB
The whole scheme to keep the nuclear disarmament demonstrators off Trafalgar Square started over a pint of beer in a local public house. The 29-year-old clerk, W. H. Gleaves, remarked to a friend:

"It is about time someone stopped these weirdies." Said someone else, "We ought to do something."

With these few words, the Keep Britain Great campaign was off to a modest start. But it has already achieved its main objective—to keep Trafalgar Square clear of the nuclear disarmament on Easter Monday. Mr. Gleaves relates how he used the ministry of works regulations to achieve this purpose.

SECURED PERMIT

"Back in October," said Mr. Gleaves, "I wrote to the ministry asking to book the Square for a 'Keep Britain Great' meeting on Easter Monday. About a month later, I was notified that our permit had been granted."

"To be honest, that was all we wanted to do—to keep the nuclear disarmament out and save a lot of police time and trouble. We thought it was unfair that they should get so much publicity. But now the thing has snowballed. We have got ourselves a meeting, and now we have to find some speakers. A friend of mine is a retired clergyman named the Rev. John Collins. We thought it would be fun if we could have a Rev. Mr. Collins as a speaker." (The leader of the nuclear disarmament group is the Rev. Canon Collins.)

NOT POLITICAL

Mr. Gleaves emphasized that his campaign is not connected with any party. He and his supporters, now a committee of less than 100, have only one policy—down with nuclear disarmament.

The Committee for Nuclear Disarmament, however, is not dismayed by the loss of Trafalgar Square for Easter Monday. A spokesman said:

"Our national council decided at their quarterly meeting on December 3, that Trafalgar Square was too small for our rally, so we are not worried at all. We are negotiating with the ministry of works for permission to hold the rally—with all the facilities we need like loudspeakers and an enclosure—in Hyde Park."

Extent of Aid to Okanagan Cold Storage 'Not Realised'

OTTAWA (Special) — Federal government assistance to Okanagan fruit and dairy interests under the Cold Storage Act has totalled $343,862 in the past year, according to David Pugh, Conservative MP for Okanagan-Boundary.

Mr. Pugh announced here today that the 11th cold storage application of 1961 has just been approved by the government.

Laurel Co-operative of Kelowna will receive assistance totalling $47,333 under the act for the expansion of their fruit and vegetable cold storage facilities. (As reported in Wednesday's Courier.)

"Too few people realize the extent of the federal aid that has been provided under the Cold Storage Act," Mr. Pugh pointed out. "The past year has been particularly notable with 11 applications approved, far in excess of the number in an average year."

The Okanagan MP said that cold storage has had a very great influence on fruit and vegetable growing and the dairy industry in the B.C. interior.

"It has enabled growers and producers to extend the marketing period for a great deal of produce. It has evened out the flow of produce reaching the market and, by enabling better handling, it has improved the quality of produce and this, in turn, has meant higher prices to the producers," Mr. Pugh noted.

The quick cooling of fruit means that quality can be maintained at a high level and grading can be handled later on once the rush of deliveries has subsided. Mr. Pugh said that in the case of apples, Canada was able to export sufficient quantities to the United States to balance out apple imports into Canada, and Canadian apples enjoyed a high reputation in the U.S. market and consequently they earned a premium price. The great bulk of Canadian apple exports to the U.S. came from the interior of B.C., while U.S. exports of apples to Canada went to other parts of the country, notably the prairies.

The cold storage applications approved in the past year involved packing houses in a number of communities. The complete list is as follows: Laurel Co-operative, Kelowna, $47,333; Osoyoos Co-operative Fruit and Vegetable Growers, $24,734; Oliver Co-operative Growers' Exchange, $10,067; Shuswap Okanagan Dairy Industry Co-operative, $5,820; McLean and Fitzpatrick, Oliver, $20,420; McLean and Fitzpatrick, Osoyoos, $20,500; McLean and Fitzpatrick, Rutland, $31,800; Kelowna Occidental Fruit Co. Ltd., $40,700; Haynes Co-operative Growers Exchange, Oliver, $33,600; Naramata Growers Exchange, $32,613; Summerland Co-operative Growers Association, $28,566.

Ten of the 11 subsidies are for fruit and vegetable handlers, only the Shuswap subsidy for the dairy industry.

A decision to pay growers 15 cents more a box for their apples if fruit is kept under properly controlled conditions after picking, is one of the main factors in the spur of interest in additional cold storage facilities in the past year. Under the act the government pays one-third of the cost of constructing cold storage facilities. Maximum amount of subsidy any one facility is $50,000. This has been objected to by the CFP-NDP group in the house. However, the government says that any concern planning to build cold storage costing more than $150,000 should be able to raise the necessary funds itself. The maintenance of the $50,000 limit is designed to encourage and assist the smaller and more remote farming and fishing areas which are in need of plants or lockers.

Mr. Pugh noted that the approval of the Laurel Co-operative subsidy would assist in some degree in the winter works program and provide employment for a number of people as construction proceeds.

Winter Driving

Want to get through your winter driving without wrinking your fenders, or even worse?

Driving safely on icy or snow-covered roads requires far more sensitive car handling than the average motorist uses on dry surfaces. Winter driving calls for a lighter touch on brake, accelerator and steering wheel.

Here are some suggestions by the B.C. Automobile Association for safer winter driving:

Accelerate slowly and gradually to avoid spinning tires and wheels.

When possible, avoid situations in which a quick stop is necessary. Pump brakes as you stop to maintain steering control and to prevent car from going into a skid.

Plan to negotiate corners so that you won't have to give the steering wheel a sudden yank in one direction.

If your car should go into a skid, turn the steering wheel gently in the direction the vehicle is skidding. After directional control is obtained, reduce speed by braking and return to original path of travel.

A wise motorist will invest in a good set of snow tires for winter driving, says the BCAA.

Soap's Return?

While housewives have gloried in their beautiful hands as a result of the use of detergents, the man of the house has wondered why the drains appear to clog up more frequently than they did. Doubtless plumbers have found this condition very satisfactory indeed.

The Toronto Star recently commented upon this condition as follows:

A manic obsession with cleanliness has led us to switch from use of natural soaps to almost 90 per cent use of detergents since the Second World War. Soaps, made of animal fats, dissolve in sewage systems. But the detergents are made with a petroleum base which will not dissolve in any system of sewage disposal or water purification.

So floods of detergents are polluting our lakes, rivers, wells and water reservoirs. They are backfiring in a billowing gush through drains into sinks and bathtubs, as some apartment dwellers know. They are beginning to menace the purity of our drinking water.

The solution? The British are experimenting with a detergent which will dissolve in sewage disposal systems. If that won't work, perhaps we shall have to return to using those old-fashioned cleansers, soap and elbow grease.

Evangel Tabernacle Scene Of Pretty Evening Wedding

Red roses white chrysanthemums, ferns and tall white tapers in candelabra decorated the Evangel Tabernacle on January 19th at 7 p.m. for the pretty evening wedding of Dorcen Mae, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric George Wells, of Kelowna, and Arthur John Dunn of Prince George, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. William James Dunn of Williams Lake, B.C.

The Reverend W. C. Stevenson officiated and the soloist Mrs. W. C. Stevenson sang "Together With Jesus" accompanied by Mrs. W. Stratton, while at the close of the prayer, a piano solo "Our Father Which Art in Heaven" was rendered by Mr. Walter Besch.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a floor length gown with a very full skirt of organza over satin. The shirred bodice featured a scalloped neckline of lace trim with sequins, and a headress of white tulle and satin held her waist length veil. She carried a bouquet of red roses and white feathered chrysanthemums.

The matron of honour was the bride's sister-in-law Mrs. Rita Wells, and the bridesmaids were her sister, Miss Doris Wells, and the groom's sister Miss Muriel Dunn of Williams Lake, who were dressed alike in red sheaths of peau de soie which were caught at the back of the waist with three white satin flowers, white satin shoes and small pill box hats of red satin which matched their dresses, completed their costumes, and their bouquets were also of red roses.

The bride's young cousin, Margaret Howell, was the charming flower girl. She carried a miniature bouquet of red roses and her dress, which was identical with that of the bride, was topped with a tiny white pill box hat.

Mr. Harry Wells, brother of the bride, acted as best man and Mr. Larry Hawkins and Mr. Walter Besch, both of Kelowna, were the ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Church Annex where the mother of the bride received wearing a turquoise blue dress with matching fur trimmed jacket. Her accessories were black and fuchsia and she wore a corsage of pink sweetheart roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother, who chose a dress of beige lace with a brown hat and accessories and her corsage was of yellow sweetheart roses.

Toast master for the occasion was the bride's cousin, Mr. L. F. Howell of Bridesville, B.C. Miss Grace Kramer of Westbank, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. S. Brooks of Kelowna was Master of Ceremonies. A short program took place while the bride and groom visited the photographer's studio, and a number of telegrams from friends and relatives were read on their return.

Among the out of town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Dunn of Williams Lake; Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Howell with Gordon, Margaret and Cecil of Bridesville, B.C.; Miss Grace Kramer of Westbank, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. S. Brooks of Kelowna; and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sauer of Barriere, B.C.

For her honeymoon to the United States the bride changed to a suit of green seakins material with a pink collar, with which she wore gold accessories complimented with an orchid corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunn will reside in Prince George.

Spring Silhouette Compared To Narrow Elongated Pyramid

PARIS (Reuters) — Pierre Balmain compares his spring silhouette to a narrow, elongated pyramid in his showing for spring today.

The symbolism emerges in narrow, slanted shoulders and conical skirts, widened with gores or easy pleats. Natural waistlines are nipped by wide leather belts, beneath snug bodices shaped to undercut the bosom.

The collection commences with a series of simple street suits featured in violent primary colors, paired with floral painted blouses. Dresses are short and definitely shape on

Being A Child Prodigy Not All Its Cracked Up To Be

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the ironies about child prodigies—and it's the one that keeps ordinary mortals from feeling shortchanged—is that when they cease to be children they frequently are no longer prodigious either.

An exception is Ruth Sleneynska (pronounced Slen-sin-ska).

As a plump four-year-old she climbed up on a piano stool to make her professional debut in Oakland, Calif. That was 32 years ago. Recently, she went back to that area as soloist with the San Francisco Symphony at a concert celebrating its 50th anniversary.

Recalling her precocious childhood, she says: "I'm grateful for the experience, but it's like surviving a great calamity. You're glad you lived through it, but you wouldn't advocate it for anyone else."

Her Berlin debut came at age six, Paris at seven, New York at eight. "Greatest keyboard genius since Mozart" was one of the milder accolades.

DIDN'T WANT ROLE

"I never had anything I wanted," she goes on, without bitterness. "I never wanted to be a pianist. It was my father's idea before I was born. But since I am one . . . I've learned when given a set of circumstances to make the most of them, to enjoy them."

"But I'd probably be the most happy, contented little housewife and mother."

Ruth lives alone in a New York apartment. She'd like to have a pet, but she travels too much to keep one. In the last five years she has given more than 1,000 concerts on three continents.

Ruth, who is just under five feet, keeps tied down to a size seven. She can barely reach an octave with her tiny hands.

Beginner's Level Square Dance Saturday Night

WESTBANK

As there are no other beginner's-level square dances being held in this district the Westbank Community Association will hold a party on Saturday, January 27th, at 8 p.m. in the Westbank Community Hall. Chuck Inglis of Peachland will be M.C., and you are asked to bring sack lunches.

ANN LANDERS

For? Or Against?

Dear Ann Landers: I never dreamed the day would come when you and I would part company on a major moral issue. I have cheered your high standards and applauded your basic good sense for years. And now you have disappointed me.

I'm writing about your refusal to boycott pretentious weddings of pregnant brides. Although I'm well aware that a high percentage of brides who wear the traditional white have no right to this symbol of purity, at least their condition is not apparent to the casual observer.

You said "the bride does not owe her guests an affidavit of chastity." The trouble with our modern society is that nobody feels they owe anything to anybody. When we accept pregnant brides as the order of the day it is evident that we are heading toward a state of total moral decay.

FIRE AS WAITRESS

She once was fired as a waitress because she couldn't hold trays high enough. That was when she was working her way through the University of California, majoring in psychology. The family returned from Europe at the outbreak of the Second World War.

When brown-eyed Ruth is being domestic around the apartment, she wears spectacles. But let her sit down at a piano or appear in public, and it's contact lenses.

"There are any number of beaux," she blushes, "who wouldn't take a second look at me in spectacles."

The Kiwanis Club of Kelowna held their Installation Banquet at the Royal Anne Hotel on Monday evening.

The banquet, which was attended by Kiwanians and their wives, was followed by the installation of officers for 1962 by Mr. Douglas Campbell of Summerland, Lieutenant Governor of District No. 5 as follows:

President, Mr. Harold Wightman; Past-president, Mr. Wm. Hillier; Vice-president, Mr. Ernest Warren; Secretary, Mr. Al Johnson; Treasurer, Mr. Roger Young; and Directors: Mr. Tom Gregory, Mr. Eric Claggett, Mr. Frank Griffin, Mr. Harold Johnston, Mr. Percy Perkins, Mr. Austin Warren and Mr. Fred Williams.

that needle-nose wench who wants to boycott weddings of girls who aren't "pure."

We heartily endorse purity, but whether or not a bride is pure is nobody's business but the bride and the groom.

The rewards for chastity are not the approval of meddlesome old biddies who come to a wedding to view the bride's waistline. The girl who waits earns the everlasting confidence and respect of the main she marries: There can be no greater satisfaction to a man than to know that he is getting something very special—and that his bride is ALL his. —U. OF ILLINOIS.

Dear For and Againers: My position is unchanged.

It's always lovely when the bride is as pure as the driven snow—but who can tell by looking whether or not she has drifted? Better the guests should assume the best—and not be nosy.

The Oyama Twirlers hosted a very successful Fun-level Snowball Hoedown in the Winfield Community Hall, last Saturday. The nite was bitterly cold, but the crowd was terrific and the hall was filled with new and experienced dancers from Vernon to Peachland.

Chuck Inglis of Peachland called a lively dance and guest callers on his program were Dave Carmichael from Vernon George Fyall from Kelowna and Scotty Hitchman from Winfield; also doing a tip each were two of the newer callers, the Joyce Gannon of Peachland and Walter Malloch of Winfield.

Pop break was taken up with a "fun gimmick" which really gave the crowd some laughs and was loudly applauded. The "good sports" chosen to supply the fun were Earl and Janet Martinson of the Buttons and Bows in Vernon, George and Gerry Fyall of the Okanagan Landing Club and the Glenmore Club, Helen and Al Salloum of the Kelowna Wagon Wheelers, Janet and Hugh McCartney of the Westside Squares Westbank and Vi and Al Ehlers of the Totem Twirlers, Peachland. The hall was seasonably decorated with snowmen and snowballs.

Also last Saturday, a little further south was the first fun-level party of the season for the Pairs and Squares in the Youth Centre Hall in Summerland. Ray Fredrickson of Summerland was the caller for this dance and featured several guest callers. New and experienced dancers attended from the various valley clubs to enjoy the fun-filled evening.

This Saturday, Jan. 27, we again have two party nites in the valley.

The Kalamalka Squares will host their intermediate level party nite in the Scout Hall in Vernon. Ray Fredrickson of Summerland is the emcee.

Also this Saturday, the 27th, the Westside Squares will host a Fun-level Party Nite in the Westbank Community Hall. Chuck Inglis is the emcee and guest callers are invited to bring their records. All square dancers are welcome, please bring a sack lunch.

Sunday, January 28 is the monthly workshop in the Youth Centre Hall in Summerland. The caller-teacher association will meet at 1:30 sharp, the Okanagan Square Dance Association will meet at 2 p.m. sharp and the workshop will commence at 3 p.m. All second year dancers and up are welcome, please bring a sack lunch.

Looking to next week—The Wagon Wheelers Square Dance Club will host their fun-level party in the Centennial Hall in Kelowna, Saturday, Feb. 3 at 8 p.m. Ches and Ev Larson of Kelowna are the emcees and guest callers are welcome. Dancers are asked to bring a sack lunch.

In Penticton, the Peach City Promenaders will host their party nite also on the 3rd. Percy Coulter of Penticton is the emcee and guest callers are invited to bring their records. Supper served.

Glancing to the 10th—once more two party nites, The Okanagan Landing Club will host a fun level party with Chuck Inglis emcee. The Westside Squares will host their party on the 10th with Ernie Funk of Kamloops emcee.

'Till next week—z Happy Square Dancing!

CROCODILE RAINCOAT

By ALICE ALDEN

Newest member of the animal kingdom to enter the fashion world is the crocodile. Of course real crocodile is already used for beautiful handbags, but here we have fine phony crocodile, really an exclusive French fabric cleverly embossed to simulate crocodile. Adele Lawrence uses it for a dressed-up raincoat in high style come rain or shine. A bowed fallie neckband replaces the collar and buttons high under the chin. A matching crocodile cloche completes the pretty picture.

BCFGA CONVENTION NEARS CLOSE

A PRE-MEETING CHAT

John Kosty, Vernon delegate, left, chats with Mike Os, well, Vernon horticulturist, and Ron Bonnet, right, delegating down to the business of today's convention.

Vernon Chamber Host To BCFGa Delegates

VERNON (Staff) — The City of Vernon and Vernon Chamber of Commerce were hosts to some 225 delegates and guests last night at a banquet tendered to the BCFGa.

After a brief welcome by Stuart Muirhead, first vice-president of the Vernon Chamber of Commerce, Mayor E. B. Cousins extended the official welcome on behalf of the City of Vernon.

Queen Silver Star I, Rhonda Oliver then extended an additional welcome and invited all present to return to Vernon's second annual winter carnival Feb. 16-25.

BCFGa President A. R. Garrish then presented three live membership awards. The recipients were George Fitzgerald of Kelowna, F. L. (Doc) Fitzpatrick of Rutland and K. W. Kinnard of Vernon.

Garrish said that the awards were for outstanding service to the growers. George Fitzgerald was unable to be present due to illness. However his wife accepted the certificate on his behalf.

Two Penticton boys again won the honors in the fruit judging contest sponsored by the association.

BCFGa executive member John S. Hall of Creston announced the Penticton winners as Dave Semenink and Gerry Harvey. They were unable to be present at the banquet due to their studies.

The chairman of the BCFGa's PNE committee Walter Ward of Summerland was presented with a replica of the Dewar Shield which the BCFGa exhibit won again this year at the Pacific National Exhibition.

The Vernon male chorus under the direction of William Seaton Sr. provided a delightful half hour of song following the banquet.

BCFGA RESOLUTIONS

From Executive: That the executive be authorized to make such commitments as may be necessary to finance the initial operation of an isolated block of orchard in the area of the research station at Summerland along with if possible the B.C. Nurserymen's Association, but on the understanding that the undertaking is on a self-supporting basis with the costs of operation to be recovered from the sale of budwood and with no intention that there will be any continuing costs to BCFGa. Carried.

Oyama: Deer damage: that the Fish and Game Branch be approached again with a view to providing fruit growers with some more reliable method of controlling deer than presently exists. Carried.

Summerland Orchard Tractors: That some manufacturers be requested to consider building orchard tractors at the lowest possible height so that all machinery can be manoeuvred more easily in orchards. Carried.

Winfield - Okanagan Centre: Packing house insurance; that an approach be made to the Fruit Growers Mutual Insurance company to investigate the feasibility of this grower-owned company assisting in the underwriting of fire insurance for packing houses, with a view to getting more reasonable rates. Carried.

Vernon - Oyama: Price of gasoline: That the executive seek to have the price brought into line with the coast area, and if this fails to investigate fully the possibility of establishing a co-operative company to market gasoline and fuel products to the fruit industry and Kootenays. Carried.

Oyososs: Federal research budget: That the federal government be pressed to enlarge its budget in all Departments of Agricultural research and greatly to increase the present amount available for research into control of fruit-free pests by biological and other non-toxic means. Carried.

Shipping Curbs to Stay

Shipping restriction, which now allows 20 boxes of fruit to the market, will remain in effect. Delegates from Winfield-Okanagan Centre proposed the amount should be increased to 50 boxes, but it barely rose from the convention floor. It was solidly defeated.

Fruit stands came in for rough discussion by delegates from the Kereomeos area. Claiming they are "harming" the industry, and sapping the best fruit, and even lower grades, from the cannery. More and more fruit stands are springing up, they claimed, and demanded they be licensed and controlled.

However, J. C. Campbell, chairman of the B.C. Fruit Board, said licensing fruit stands has been under discussion by the government, and even though they do not disagree with such a move they insisted no fee be charged for such policing. Something the Kereomeos delegates would like to see.

Army Brass To Visit

VERNON (Staff) — Maj. Gen. J. M. Rockingham, general officer commanding Western Command will visit special militia training at Vernon on Feb. 2.

The two-hour visit slated to commence at noon is part of a province-wide tour which will take in training facilities at Salmon Arm, Kamloops, Victoria, Duncan, Nanaimo, Alberni, Courtenay, Prince Rupert and Prince George.

Gen. Rockingham will be accompanied on his five-day tour by Brig. L. G. C. Lilley, commander of the Northwest Highway System and Capt. R. B. May, general staff officer of headquarters Western Command.

SIMILAR TYPE

One delegate, E. Masuch, of Creston, would like to see B.C. Fruit enter Alberta at the discretion of the individual grower to combat similar type sales from Washington State, which he maintained were arriving in wholesale quantities and not controlled.

He was told by Mr. Campbell that an investigation was currently under way to see if such shippers and growers in the United States were violating federal laws. But at the same time said it was impossible to control or police fruit sales in the province of Alberta.

The convention concludes tonight with the final resolution, headquarters Western Command to be presented.

Mrs. G. Dovey Dies At 76

VERNON (Staff) — Funeral services were held Tuesday for Grace Dovey, who died Jan. 20, in the Vernon Jubilee Hospital. She was 76.

A resident of Vernon for the past 38 years, Mrs. Dovey was born in Nevada, Missouri. She graduated in 1906 as a registered nurse from the Green Gables Hospital, Denver. In 1911, she married Martin Danielsen and two years later made their home in Oyen, Alberta.

The family came to Vernon in 1923, where Mr. Danielsen operated a dairy farm until his death in 1940. Mrs. Danielsen then married Charles Edwin Dovey in 1946, who predeceased her in 1956.

Survivors are: One son, Bob Danielsen; two daughters, Miss Alice Danielsen and Mrs. Louise Veneay, also four grandchildren, all of Vernon.

Burial in the family plot, Vernon Cemetery.

Campbell and Winter Funeral Chapel were in charge of arrangements.

BC Tree Fruits Report Brought Up to Date

J. B. Lander, sales manager of B.C. Tree Fruits, at the convention in Vernon, brought his prepared report up to date for the delegates. His report had been prepared in December and in the interval some changes had taken place.

In the past three weeks apple shipments have amounted to 341,751 boxes, with a good distribution. The export movement was particularly heavy the week before last—the U.K. figures now stand at $84,228. Shipments to other markets: United States, 441,333 to 27 States of the Union, Eastern Canada, 88,353, Western Canada 1,344,331, Other Off-Shore 210, 598 into 15 different countries, making the total shipments 2,660,243.

As of Jan. 18 our remaining stocks amount to 998,698 boxes consisting of the following varieties: McIntosh, 27,715; Delicious, 125,069; Red Delicious, 208,779; Rome and Red Rome, 25,800; Staymans and Red Staymans, 6,690; Sportans, 1,814; Jonathan, 30; Newtowns, 70,042; Winesap and Red Wine-sap, 435,507; Other Apples, 312.

NOT UNMANAGEABLE

This is not an unmanageable quantity, we do not anticipate quick movement of these stocks as we are feeling the impact of Eastern and Michigan, Wisconsin McIntosh competition on the prairies. At the year end Ontario McIntosh holdings were 1,200,000, made up of 744,000 Cold Storage, and 456,000 Controlled Atmosphere. A year ago their total was 734,000. Quebec has stretched their short apple crop into a long one—the substantial fall importation from New York has now resulted in Quebec being in trouble; on January 1st this year they had 980,000 Macs left—that was out of a short crop, the quantity last year was 844,000. Michigan has double the quantity of McIntosh that they had as at January 1st, 1961—this year 1,192,000, as against 586,000, but what is more alarming, the Michigan total tonnage is nearly 4½ million, almost double that of a year ago. However, we do not see any obstacles in the path of our disposing of the crop within the normal marketing season.

BIG INCREASE

As we indicated in the report which you have already received, the Anjou crop amounted to approximately 130,000, and sales have now reached 118,920, leaving 11,380. Eastern Canada has taken the largest percentage of the crop—over 60,000. What is most encouraging is the consistent increase in the demand for Anjous in Western Canada. You will have noted the widespread distribution that is obtained on this variety.

The marketing of Flemish Pears was concluded about two weeks ago. As mentioned in our other report, as the production of Bartlett's and Anjous increases, the disposition of Flemish will become even more difficult.

In our report last year we mentioned that the Nova Scotia apple industry had taken on a "new lease of life", and in our discussions with Government and industry officials in that Province, we learn that there is a continuing interest in tree plantings. It is estimated that at least 50,000 new apple trees will be planted this spring—these will be approximately 75 per cent in Red Delicious and McIntosh, and 80 per cent of the semi-dwarf types.

Of the remaining 25 per cent in new plantings, varieties will be mostly for processing, such as King, Spy, and Greenings, and even Golden Delicious.

There is a general air of optimism in the Annapolis Valley of Nova Scotia, centered around fewer, but more efficient, and infinitely larger operations.

(DUE TO SPACE LIMITATIONS THIS REPORT WILL BE COMPLETED IN FRIDAY'S COURIER.)

Kelowna Junior Buckaroos got an unexpected verbal handclap recently from a league referee, who called them a five-goal-margin better club than the Vernon Canadians, and the comment came when play was on Vernon ice.

Although the comment was made when the club wasn't leading five points, and it never did, he still felt the premise was okay. The basic talent is there.

Upcoming playoffs are going to be a hot issue. Politicking for a berth in the upper echelons, the Buckaroos have more than a chance with a reasonably big 'C'. The Buckaroos, despite their second-play rung, are calibre with a real big 'C'.

What's holding them down, says the record, is penalties.

Back to Fundamental Proposition No. 1, Article Two, of the Constitution of Winning Hockey Clubs. Which states: No scoring is possible from the sin bin, so stay out. A hockey club is a machine that needs all its parts to function accurately. When a player is missing the remaining parts take on a big load and break down from the overloading.

TIED IN KNOTS

Bob Giordano, who coached the Bucks last night in their 4-2 defeat, had the Rockets tied up in knots until late in the second period. At Kamloops a week ago, he held the Rockets down 5-3 going into the third period.

Things fell apart, at the Kamloops game, when the Rockets scored seconds into the third frame.

Last night, Rockets received the bulk of their penalties in the third period, when they should have been coming from a 3-2 deficit.

In Vernon Tuesday night, although the Bucks won, Vernon's inexperienced but hard-working crew scored twice while the Buckaroos were short-handed.

Although we don't agree with the attack made on the Buckaroos by another local writer, who labeled the club everything but Union Made including corner-store butchers, the record is in black and white to the extent that it shows when a weaker club scores on a broken machine.

NOT THEIR OWN BOSS

Hockey players do not have only their own interests to look after on the ice. Their first allegiance is to the spectator.

The spectator who is asked to come and "watch us whip the opposition". Who is also asked to spend money on coming to a game.

Players protest vigorously when called for a penalty. And when they get reminded of their tally later on.

In a column several months ago, we warned against getting the referees up in arms. The Bucks appear to have done that. Who do you blame? The referees, or the players who attempt to get away with the bush-league stuff in the blind corners.

It's a bit easier to see from the vantage of a press box. The unseen elbows and knees, the penalties no referee can see. Things that are unnecessary. They indicate a misunderstanding of the purpose of sport and the privilege of having a crowd to play before, or a club to play with.

TWO ELEMENTS

Bodily contact and speed are two of hockey's main attractions as a game. Sometimes speed and circumstances conspire against a player, and he will get a penalty. Mostly he conspires against himself by trying to get even.

There seems to be a misunderstanding of the word "tough". It's costing them games and has cost the league's best club a title.

HOCKEY STICKS

Ambitious salesmen amongst the ranks of prospective hockey players in Kelowna can get themselves an autographed "Frank Mahovich" hockey stick if they can round up three subscribers to our paper. Ask the butcher, the baker, aunt, uncle—anyone. And bring the subscriptions to the Courier.

South's Reception Cool Toward Prairie Clubs

Prairie teams invaded the night's win was the fifth for San Francisco in six games against the Stampede, in second place in the Northern Division.

After a scoreless first period, the Seals wrapped up the game with four goals in the middle session, two of them slipped in by Al Nicholson. Ken Girard, Tom Thurlby and Harry Piddly added singles. Norm Johnson and Jim Moro scored for Calgary before 4,149 fans at San Francisco.

The Seals, occupants of last place in the Southern Division since the first of the year, seem to have found in Calgary a team they can beat. Wednesday

WINS THE GAME

Art Jones, the league's leading scorer last year, opened and closed the action for the Buckaroos at Portland. His looping backhand shot at 5:19 of overtime won the game.

Edmonton took a 2-1 lead in the first period and stretched it to 3-1 in the second when Jack Blonda drew three minor penalties to leave the Bucks short-handed. Portland regained the lead with three goals before the period ended.

Win On Rangers In Wings Crucial

Detroit Red Wings won a key National Hockey League game Wednesday night, thanks to the incomparable Gordie Howe and the redoubtable Terry Sawchuk.

The two all-time greats combined their talents as they have so many times in the past for a 3-0 victory over the faltering New York Rangers at New York.

Howe got two goals, his 22nd and 23rd of the season, and Sawchuk blocked 28 shots for his fifth shutout.

In another game at Chicago, clutch goaltending by Glenn Hall and goals by Bobby Hull and Stan Mikita led the Black Hawks to a 2-1 win over Toronto Maple Leafs.

By winning, the Red Wings slipped into fourth place in the league standings, two points ahead of the Rangers who now have lost eight straight games and 10 of their last 11.

Chicago's win, in a while, prevented the second-place Maple Leafs from closing in on front-running Montreal Canadiens. The Leafs trail by three points.

Howe's goals also raised his career total to 492, just eight shy of the coveted 500 mark and 32 behind retired Maurice (Rocket) Richard's record of 544.

The shutout also was Sawchuk's 88th in NHL play, leaving him six off the record set by George Hainsworth in 1913, seasons with Canadians and Maple Leafs in the 1920s and 30s.

Howe got his first goal at 4:53 of the second period, beating New York goalie Lorne (Gump) Worsley on a close shot. He connected again at 15:19 of the third, this time on a 40-foot shot.

One Down, Two Left To Go—Tangled Titles

NEW YORK (AP) — One of boxing's three tangled titles has been solved, the solution to another is in the making and it's up to Archie Moore to unravel the third.

Moore has until Feb. 1 or 2 to sign for a title fight or face suspension by the New York Athletic Commission which, in effect, would strip him of the last piece of the light-heavyweight crown he has worn for nine years.

The disputed bantamweight title was settled last week when Eder Jofre of Brazil stopped Ireland's Johnny Caldwell. Each had claimed a share of the crown.

Announcement Wednesday of a Paul Pender-Terry Downes fight, with the winner going against Gene Fullmer, pointed towards probable settlement of the disputed middleweight title.

This leaves only the light-heavy crown still in question. Moore, who admits to being 46 and may be five or six years older, is recognized as champion in New York, Massachusetts and Europe. Harold Johnson of Philadelphia is recognized by the National Boxing Association.

SEEKS TITLE BOUT

"We're making every effort to arrange for a title fight," said Gen. Melvin Krulwich, chairman of the New York commission. He said he has recently conferred with Bill Yale of San Diego, Moore's attorney, in an effort to arrange for a title bout with either NBA champ Johnson or Doug Jones, the No. 2 challenger from New York.

NHL STARS

Goalie Terry Sawchuk, who blocked 28 shots for his fifth shutout of the season, and Gordie Howe, who scored his 22nd and 23rd goals, when Detroit Red Wings beat New York Rangers 3-0.

Goalie Glenn Hall of Chicago, whose key saves led the Black Hawks to a 2-1 decision over Toronto Maple Leafs.

There were 27 minor penalties called in the two games, 17 at Chicago.

All teams are idle until the weekend when each sees action twice.

Saturday night, Detroit is at Toronto, New York at Montreal and Chicago at Boston. Sunday night, it'll be Montreal at Boston, Toronto at Detroit and Chicago at New York.

Rockets Pound Out Win Dump Buckaroos By 4-2

By PETE MUNOZ
(Special)

Kamloops Rockets hammered out a 4-2 decision over Kelowna Junior Buckaroos before a crowd of 200 at Kelowna Memorial Arena last night.

Play was ragged in the first period, and the Buckaroos couldn't seem to get untracked. Kamloops scored two goals in this stanza, the first coming off the stick of Glenn Richards when he slapped home Jackie James' rebound from ten feet out.

Just before the buzzer, Buck Crawford notched the second tally. Picking up the puck in his own end and waltzing around the Kelowna defence, he beat Sid Shussel with a drive into the upper corner of the net.

The tempo of play picked up in the second period as both clubs opened up.

Buckaroos hit the score sheet early in this period with two goals within one minute and nine seconds. While playing short-handed, with Perry Romeo serving a minor for holding, Ken Haminishi stole the puck at centre ice and slapped a high hard one past Peter Sternig in the Rocket's cage from just inside the Kamloops blue line.

Play started getting rough around the mid-way mark as both clubs concentrated on the man instead of the puck.

What proved to be the winning marker came around the 18 minute mark when Richards, taking advantage of some loose defensive play around the Bucks' net, slammed in his second goal of the game. A Kelowna loner helped set this goal up, when on an obvious icing play the Bucks' defence let hustling centreman James beat them to the puck.

Play remained in the Kelowna end for the next minute and during this time the Buckaroos repeatedly failed to clear from around their net with the Rockets' forward unit buzzing all over.

Bucks had a potential third goal disallowed when Elmer Arrance tipped in a blazing Phil Larden screen shot from the right. Referee Tony Winchuk ruled no goal because Arrance's stick was over his shoulder, when he tipped the disc.

Penalties were distributed closely over the first two periods with Kelowna picking up five of the nine handed out. Included were two majors, one to each team. Haminishi and Richards went off together for fighting in the opening period.

Penalties proved to be costly to the Bucks in the final frame. Virtually monopolizing the sin bin, they took six of the seven penalties doled out. Romeo served four minors for a variety of offences and Russ Evans garnered a misconduct.

Bob Nishimura put the game on ice when he scored the second tally at 13:31 of the last period. He finished off a neat passing play with line-mates Glenn Madsen and Vic Minamide. Kelowna was playing one man short at the time with Romeo serving one of his minors for charging.

There was exciting goal mouth action in the dying minutes as Kelowna, put on the pressure in a desperate effort to come behind. Despite being shaken up earlier, when he was accidentally clipped by Romeo's

Sport Celebrities Won't Cross Hotel Picket Line

TORONTO (CP) — Sponsors of Toronto's annual Sports Celebrities Dinner are looking for a new master of ceremonies. If the present trend continues, they may have to hunt for more celebrities.

Comedians Johnny Wayne and Frank Shuster, who were to have been masters of ceremonies, said Wednesday night they will not cross picket lines at the strikebound Royal York Hotel, site of the Feb. 1 dinner.

A. R. Johnstone, international vice-president of the striking Hotel and Club Employees Union (HCEU), then listed three celebrities he said have decided against attending—Ralph Houk, manager of baseball's New York Yankees, Gene (Big Daddy) Lipscombe of the National Football League's Pittsburgh Steelers, and Wilma Rudolph Ward, United States track star.

Johnstone said the union's head office has been working to persuade sports figures to boycott the dinner, held in support of crippled children's work.

"A charity dinner is no different from any other kind of dinner," he said. "They knew last May that the strike was on. It's a case of charity giving aid to the Royal York Hotel."

Colorado Springs - Will Be Site Of Championship

GENEVA — The world hockey championship will take place as planned in Colorado Springs, Colo., J. D. (Bunny) Ahearn, vice-president of the International Hockey Federation, said today.

Ahearn refused to comment on the visa holdup threatening to bar the East German team from competing in the championships but said the event definitely will take place as scheduled in Colorado Springs from March 8 to 19.

Ahearn added that the Allied control office in Berlin, which is responsible for issuing travel documents to East Germans, told him it would have a decision on the team by Jan. 30.

Ahearn spoke at Geneva airport after a meeting of the federation's executive committee here decided to turn the matter over to its North American committee—comprising the United States, Canada and Japan.

According to a ruling made in 1959 by the federation, the Colorado Springs world championship meet somewhere in Europe could be transferred to convening team is refused entry to the United States. Ahearn said the federation executive committee meeting here was unsuccessful because American members Walter Brown and Thayer Tutt were not satisfied that the U.S. actually had refused admission to the East German team.

The issue was further complicated by the lack of a substitute country in which to hold the championships.

Ahearn said the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association told him Wednesday night it would be impossible to hold the championship there this year.

The officials said it was too late to organize the world championships elsewhere or to hold a separate European championship meet somewhere in Europe.

MARIS WAGE STILL NOT SET MORE TALKS NEXT MONTH

NEW YORK (AP) —

Roger Maris, voted winner of the S. Rae Hickok professional athletes of the year award, failed Wednesday to reach agreement on salary terms during a brief conference with New York Yankee general manager Roy Hamer.

A club spokesman said further talks will take place next month in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. the Yankee's new spring training base.

The Hickok award, announced Monday recognized Maris' tremendous feat of hitting a record 61 home runs in 162 games last season. It topped Babe Ruth's 154-game total of 60.

Gap Narrows In Scoring

Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings scored two goals Wednesday night and moved within six points of the lead held by New York's Andy Bathgate in the National Hockey League individual scoring race.

The goals were Howe's 22nd and 23rd of the season and, combined with 30 assists, gave him 53 points.

Bathgate, held pointless when the Rangers lost 3-0 to Detroit, has 50 including a league-leading 41 assists.

Stan Mikita of Chicago scored his 14th goal in the Black Hawks 2-1 win over Toronto and drew to within one point of third place shared by Claude Provost of Montreal, C. A. G. and Frank Mahovich of the Leafs.

Mikita has 45 points while Provost and Mahovich have 46. Provost leads the league in goals with 25.

Johnny Bucyk of Boston Bruins held on to sixth with 43 points while Bobby Hull of Chicago and Norm Ullman of Detroit are tied for seventh with 41.

SILK FARM IN BRITAIN

The aristocracy of silkworms in England, these particular specimens are given an extra large helping of their staple diet, mulberry leaves, by Mrs. Salmon, chief lecturer and operator, as an encouragement to "get weaving." They are residents at Lady Hart Dyke's silk farm in London Colney, Hertfordshire. The farm building which houses the silkworms was once used by Nell Gwynne, and is named after her. The world-famous establishment has in fact supplied silk for use at two Coronations, two Royal weddings and a Royal birth.

ICI, Courtaulds Merger Opposed by UK Labor

LONDON (CP) — Parliament is back at work after the Christmas recess, and the Labor opposition has indicated readiness to battle on the proposed merger of Imperial Chemical Industries and Courtaulds.

In reply to persistent demands for a debate, a government spokesman told the Commons Tuesday that he hopes to make a statement on the subject Thursday or early next week.

Douglas Jay, the opposition's main speaker on trade matters, asked for a public inquiry into the effects of the proposed merger.

Other topics discussed as the MPs resumed work included the cost of repair work at the Kensington Palace home of Princess Margaret and the Earl of Snowdon; a plan for fixed-rate financing to aid exports; labor trouble on the railways; and British policy in the United Nations.

The criticism of repair costs for Kensington Palace, future home of Princess Margaret and her husband, was launched by W. W. Hamilton, labor member for Eile West in Scotland, who asked whether this was part of the works ministry's contribution to Britain's economic recovery.

"Does he (the minister, Lord John Hope) not think that it is a deplorable priority that at this time, when there are thousands of homeless in London, that this kind of money should be spent on this apartment?"

The ministry announced Monday that repair work would cost about £28,000, (£22,000) some £15,000 more than the original estimate last March.

Lord John said he does not think he would be making any contribution to the national interest if he allowed the building to deteriorate. It had been deteriorating for more than 20 years and "it is high time something was done."

Transport Minister Ernest Marples faced a Labor party barrage of questions on pay claims by railwaymen.

The railway industry is one of several sectors on the British industrial front where demands for pay increases are coming into conflict with the government's pay-pause policy, expected to last until April.

Prime Minister Macmillan replied affirmatively when asked whether a speech by Lord Home Dec. 28 represented government policy on the United Nations.

Labor MPs said the speech had called in question Britain's continued support of the United Nations, and had been quoted with glee by enemies of the UN.

In the speech, Lord Home spoke of a "crisis of confidence" in the world organization and said Britain had been placed in an "appalling predicament" because of what he described as a falling away from the principles of the UN charter.

EPIDEMIC CLAIMS 301
MANILA (AP) — A cholera-like epidemic has taken 301 lives in the last nine days, bringing the death toll to 1,692 since September, The Philippines government reported Wednesday.

The number of cases from the disease, choleraform enteritis, rose to 11,904 from 10,770 in the nine-day period Dizon said.

PLAY CANADIAN SHOW
TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian National Exhibition Association said Wednesday it will have an all-Canadian grandstand show this year, similar to the successful one staged in 1961. It will take the form of a cross-country extravaganza with all parts of Canada represented.

However, it will not have the RCMP musical ride which performed last season.

CUTS STEEL PRICE
DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — The Oliver mining division of U.S. Steel today cut the price of its Mesabi Range natural blast furnace iron ore Wednesday in an effort to recapture markets and stimulate work at its Minnesota properties. The price schedule, effective April 1, cuts the price by 80 cents a gross ton and brings it below the 1957 level. Blast furnace ores will sell for $10.65 a gross ton, delivered at lower great lakes ports.

NEW DELHI (AP) — The old practice of head-hunting in the jungles of East India's Nagaland is reported to have been resumed with the taking of six heads. A report today from Shillong, capital of Assam state, said village guards clashed several days ago with Naga guerrillas who are fighting independence from India for their area. The guards killed six guerrillas and cut off their heads to show officials as proof. The incident took place in the Tuensang area, the "most and most remote" of Nagaland along the Burmese border. Head-hunting once flourished there, and the last reported case occurred three years ago, when 11 heads were taken in a feud between two villages. The Indian Army has been trying to control the guerrillas out of the rugged terrain for nine years.

London Times Has Praise For JFK's Army 'Muzzle'

LONDON (Reuters) — The London Times praises the Kennedy administration for its efforts to keep the political scene clear of military influence.

The independent newspaper publishes a hard-hitting editorial on the public hearings into the "muzzling of the military" which were started Tuesday in Washington.

"These hearings are of 'vital concern' to the rest of the world," the Times says, because of the extension of the military "into every corner of the national life."

"Whole areas of the U.S. are dependent on the defence budget. The result is that concentration of political, economic and military power develop an interest in maintaining the tensions which keep it large and in opposing social and welfare expenditures which compete with it."

"All this feeds, and feeds upon the superficial view of communism as total evil which must be totally defeated, not only externally but in the form known as 'creeping socialism' at home."

"The public statements of senior U.S. military men have sometimes caused dangerous confusion about the aims of American policy and the extent of civilian control over it."

U.S. Processing Visas For E. German Club

GENEVA (Reuters) — John (Bunny) Ahearn, president of the International Ice Hockey Federation, Tuesday said a speedy solution must be found to the visa problem which threatens to keep East Germany out of the 1962 world amateur ice hockey championships.

Ahearn said he called the federation's executive committee to a meeting here today to discuss the United States state department's delay in granting visas to the East Germans. The tournament takes place March 8-18 at Colorado Springs, Colo.

"The state department has not yet refused to grant the visas, but they say they are still processing the applications," Ahearn said.

NO TWIST

DAMASCUS (AP)—Syria has banned the twist, the American dance craze. The government called it sexually provocative.

HOUSEWIVES' REWARD ROME (AP)—Italy's parliament has been asked to grant state pensions to elderly housewives. Supporters of the move say such pensions should be comparable to those for retired factory or office workers.

The bidding:
South West North East

2NT Pass 4NT Pass
5♦ Pass 6NT Pass

Opening lead — king of diamonds.

Strange things sometimes happen in tournaments. For example, look at this deal played recently in Houston, Texas, in the national mixed pair championship. When I held the West hand, the bidding (fortunately for me) went as shown. North bid six notrump even after he had learned through the use of Blackwood that his side was lacking an ace. He hoped that South's opening notrump bid included either the ace or king of diamonds. This hope failed to materialize and South went down five—1,400 points.

The hand was played at 150 tables and at quite a number of them the same contract was reached with the same disastrous result. But other strange happenings also occurred at the various tables.

Thus, some of the North-South pairs played the hand at three notrump and made thirteen tricks when West opened his fourth best diamond.

At another table, where North used Blackwood and learned from the five diamond response that South had only one ace, North bid five hearts, a conventional bid showing that a slam was not in the cards and warning South not to go on to a slam.

It was the first time the suit had been mentioned and, strictly speaking, was an artificial bid that had nothing to do with hearts as a suit, but South could think of no better place to play the hand and he passed five hearts. This pair thus stumbled into the best spot possible with the North-South cards. All they lost was two diamond tricks.

At another table, with East-West maintaining a discreet silence during the early bidding, North raised South to six notrump. When West doubled, North decided that the double was based on the A-K of diamonds.

He therefore ran to seven clubs, hoping the grand slam might be made if East failed to find the diamond lead. East, up against a difficult guess, led a heart, but North still had to go down one. However, he did much better than those North-Souths who went down 1,400.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW
Adverse planetary aspects suggest that you keep an eye on your financial position now. Watch your budget and, above all, avoid extravagance and speculation. Don't enter any complicated financial transactions.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY
If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that, as of April 1, you will enter an excellent month where business and finances are concerned. Don't "go overboard" in spending, however, since mid-May will bring some unexpected expenses. The rest of the year will have its ups and downs where these matters are concerned, but keep plugging and 1962 will show fine results.

Personal relationships will be under the influence for most of the year, with emphasis on romance during July and August. Travel will be governed by fine aspects during these same months, and social life should be highly stimulating in December and January. Avoid tension in September and extravagance in November.

A child born on this day will be endowed with great energy and activity; will also be a born leader.

Spot Picking, Estimates In Report On Apple Crop

VERNON (Staff) — A report and it was increased from 20 per cent to 30 per cent last season. Also sizes below 2-9/16 in C grade were eliminated from the handpick.

The apple committee again approved central packing for Golden Delicious, as well as sample grading. The committee realized that sample grading of this variety had not been too successful in 1960 but stated that sample grading should be continued in 1961 in order to provide a more accurate picture.

Crop estimating has been a problem in the fruit industry for many years, and the committee states that estimates that are considerably high or low are detrimental to the sales agency. They only hurt the growers who must pay for them, the report stated. The committee strongly urged all grower and others involved in the estimating of tree fruit crops to give the problem serious thought.

SAN JOSE SCALE

Checking for San Jose scale, the committee noted, evidence of the pest was found at most packinghouses. It may not be common knowledge to all fruit growers that areas known to have San Jose scale are barred from shipping fruit to certain countries. The apple committee asked the executive, BCFGA, what action had been taken on San Jose scale, from Oliver local, adopted at the 1961 annual convention. In reply the executive referred the committee to review on action taken on resolutions which included a detailed report on the meetings, discussions and proposals regarding the problem.

The industry promised that a record would be kept of the growers whose fruit had to be segregated because of San Jose scale, and this information would be given to the district horticulturists so that each grower could be contacted personally and provided with every assistance necessary to ensure future eradication of the pest.

If any shipper failed to provide B.C. Tree Fruits with this information there was a possibility that the program would eventually be cancelled.

HANDIPAK

As the McIntosh crop was down in 1961, the apple committee decided there was a need to change to try to include more C Grade in the Handipak.

FLUORIDATE WATER

HAY RIVER, N.W.T. (CP) — This community of 1,200 on the south shore of Great Slave Lake is fluoridating its water supply after the move was approved in a recent plebiscite. Yellowknife on the north shore, and Inuvik on the Arctic coast, already fluoridate their water supplies.

Eskimos are found along a belt of more than 6,000 miles from the east coast of Greenland to the tip of the Aleutians.

Lady Chatterly Roused From Restless Bed Again

LONDON (CP)—An article in the current issue of Encounter has roused Lady Chatterley from her restless bed and may lead her into the dock again.

John Sparrow, a barrister and warden of All Souls, Oxford University, examines in detail a theme he finds in D. H. Lawrence's book and which was not discussed during the famous high court trial for obscenity in 1960.

Sparrow argues that in one of the book's "sexual" passages Lawrence is describing and in a sense glorifying unnatural practices for which the penalty in English law is life imprisonment.

Why, asks Sparrow, did none of the 25 expert witnesses—some of the cream of England's intellectual crop—give no explanation of the passage in the defence which ultimately vindicated the book?

WOULD CHANGE VERDICT

Why did the prosecution not make use of it? Would the verdict in the case have been a different one?

The repeated claim of the defence in the trial was that Lawrence, in the words of a bishop on the witness stand, represented the sexual act "as in a real sense something sacred; as in a real sense an act of holy communion."

Sparrow says that if Lawrence's apparent panegyric on perversion had been squarely put to the jury "the verdict might well have been a different one."

Albany, a columnist in The Sunday Telegraph, says Sparrow's re-examination "may raise judiciary as well as literary controversy."

"For one barrister publicly to criticize the professional conduct of others is unusual in that close-knit circle."

Realtor' Sharks, Vultures' Must Be Probed - Union

VICTORIA (CP)—A government-sponsored investigation of practices which have so profoundly affected the real estate business in the province was sought this week by a delegation representing the Independent International Mine, Mill and Smelter-Workers' Union.

The union is appalled by recent revelations made by the British Columbia Federation of Compensation Board procedures.
